AT FAIRMOUNT HOME

A Happy Christmas For the Boys and Girls.

A VERY DELIGHTFUL PROGRAM

The Youngsters Did Themselves Proud. The Christmas Tree Was on Deck—Wellsville to the Front—Superintendent Southworth and Wife Remembered.

The entertainment given by the children and the employees of the Fairmount Children's home on Christmas afternoon was most enjoyable. Each year there is a marked increase in the attendance on these exercises, which is sufficient demonstration of the interest the good people feel in these little ones.

Superintendent and Mrs. Southworth are people who put their whole soul in this work, and who diligently aim to gladden each little heart, and the smile of each child that welcomes their approach attests the love they have for them, for they are sure of a pleasant word of commendation. The following program was rendered:

Prayer by Superintendent Southworth; "Christmas Carol," by all the children, Bible reading and response, Christmas anthem by a quartet of ladies, Mrs. Foster, Miss Hattie Rowles, Mrs. Izer and Miss Finney; solo by Albert Barcus. Then followed the umbrella drill, by 16 boys, who, by their graceful manipulation of the umbrellas, showed the careful training of the instructors and the aptitude of the children. Next was a chorus by boys and girls. Duet by Effie Thomas and Clarence Marshall. A turkey dance by Heber Donaldson was so comical it brought a shower of applause.

"Luther's Cradle Song," by the little tots of the kindergarten, showed the success with which their teacher, Miss Merwin, always meets in the line of bringing out the talent of the children.

A piano duet was next finely executed by Misses Rowles and Rice.

A chorus by boys; then a solo by Mr. Eckert, sung in negro dialect. He was recalled, and responded with the "Last Verse of Song."

The tambourine drill was next on the program, and was considered by many the finest of all. This number was perfectly executed by 12 girls, ranging from 8 to 15 years of age. They wore red skirts and white waists. This piece certainly showed that the teachers, Misses Rowles and Smith, had been untiring in their efforts.

Next was a song by No. 3 cottage boys, after which little Edith Baughman, a visitor, gave a recitation. Then there was a talk by Mr. Southworth.

The last number on the program was a Delarte drill, by the lady employees, who had been wholly instructed by Miss Maude Rowles. They appeared in Greek costumes, and gave one of the best performances of the evening, finishing up with two striking tableaux, one representing a sad scene and the other a comic one.

The lighting of the Xmas tree and distribution of presents to the little ones ended the day's festivities.

The Wellsville people did nobly in furnishing the treat for the children. Gifts were also sent from different societies.

Mr. and Mrs. Southworth were well remembered by their many friends in the way of gifts. Among the gifts from the employees was an elegant sideboard. Mr. T. B. Culp presented Mrs. Southworth with a handsome dress pattern, and the trustees a number of fine china pieces.

Each employee was generously remembered by Mr. and Mrs. Southworth.

One very pleasant and unusual feature of the holidays was the presence of two brothers who had been inmates of the home 20 years ago. In fact, one of them was brought to the old farm house two years before the erection of the present institution. They were noble looking men, and were deeply touched when shown through the home, designating the very desk at which they sat, the place in the room where they slept, and also their places at the table. Their names are Mr. Charles and Norman Baughman.

The older one, aged about 30 years, gave a nice little talk to the children, telling them how the influence of his instruction received here had followed him all through his life, and that it was here he first learned the teachings of Christ. This young man was the first one admitted to the home after its organization. They are both residents of Pittsburg, in good business, and feel proud of the fact that they were once inmates of this noble institution.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Southworth and Miss Adelaide Newton are guests of friends at the home during the holidays.

YOUNGSTERS HIT HARD.

And the Party Hit Has Resolved to Reform.

It occurred in the city of East Liverpool, Columbiana county, Ohio, last night, and the occurrence took place on one of our prominent thoroughfares—call it West Market, and you'll make a first class guess. Two bright faced youngsters, mere children, were passing by a rum shop, and in the doorway of said saloon stood an athletic, burly, muscular man, with a face of more than ordinary intelligence; just such a man as might have been an ornament to society, or a skillful mechanic, were it not for the fact that alcohol had pre-empted his right to manhood and self respect. Each of the youngsters had a package of candy, evidently the gift of some one who loved and cared for them. As the boys reached the saloon door, the half-drunken man held out his hand and coaxingly said:

"Say, boys, I like good things; won't you give me a share of your candy?"

The little lads darted away as if frightened, halting when at a safe distance, and one of them, a bright-faced, handsome little fellow, cried out:

"No sir, we have no candy for you. If you wouldn't loaf about saloons, you'd have plenty of money to buy candy, and you'd not need to beg for it."

A passer-by overheard the request and the answer, and halted to see the effect on the man, whom he knew well. The poor fellow staggered back as if struck a hard blow—then stepped forward to his friend and well wisher and said:

"Say, Tom, that was a stunner—that's awful. But the kid's right, Tom. He told the truth, old fellow. If it hadn't been for saloons, Tom, I could buy lots of things that I can't have now. I believe I'll try it, Tom. Yes sir, I'll make an effort to be a man, and quit this infernal drink habit."

Tom shook hands with him and wished him success, and every man and woman who hates rum and abhors the licensing of an article which first robs a man and then sends his soul to hell, will join with Tom in the wish.

A LARGE CROWD

Attended the Brotherhood Fair Last Evening.

The Brotherhood fair was very largely attended last evening. Professor Roe's stereopticon views pleased the large audience, and were greeted with hearty applause. The water sets were won by Oliver Ashbaugh, Mrs. Daniel Woods and Mrs. R. C. Finley. Ticket No. 118 won the rocking chair. W. Adams and W. Adams, Jr., each won a box of cigars, while George Marvin received the sled. The door prize, a Lotus cracker jar, went to William Connelly, and George Sweitzer won a stand. In the contest for the doll, Sadie Betteridge turned in $6.88, while Hazel Robinson had $4.13 to her credit. Miss Betteridge was declared the winner, but the loser was also given a doll. A donation of two stands, a rocking chair and a handsome silver teapot were received from Typographical union. Tonight the contest for the watch and the diamond ring will close. The Crescent quartette will be present to furnish sweet music, and this will undoubtedly be the banner evening of the fair.

The contestants for the diamond ring and gold watch are meeting with great success. All monies must be turned in at 9 o'clock, when the judges will take charge, each contestant selecting a judge, the third judge to be selected by these two. A committee of the Brotherhood will have charge of the affair, and it will be its duty to see that the contest is conducted in a fair and impartial manner.

FAREWELL SERMON.

Reverend McKelvy, of Calcutta, Goes to New Wilmington, Pa.

Reverend McKelvy, who has been pastor of the United Presbyterian church at Calcutta for some time past, preached his farewell sermon last Sunday to a large congregation. The most friendly relations existed between the pastor and his congregation, and they part with the deepest regret. The gentleman and his family left this morning for New Wilmington, Pa., where they will make their future home. The pulpit of the church has been declared vacant for an indefinite period and will be occupied by supplies.

ARE LEARNING TO SHOOT.

Officers Earl and Jennings Are Practicing Daily.

Realizing they may be called upon in the future to dispatch numerous dogs, Officers Jennings and Earl are taking lessons in marksmanship. They have been practicing with the revolver the past few days in a Second street shooting gallery, and it is said both have attained a proficiency that would excite the jealousy of a Bogardus or Buffalo Bill.

THE ANNUAL STATE

Agricultural Convention and State Farmers' Institute.

This convention is to be held in the senate chamber of the state house, Columbus, on Jan. 13, 14 and 15, and the indications are that it will be unusually interesting and profitable to farmers and breeders. We understand that a number of the leading farmers of Columbiana county will be present. The closing hour of each session of the institute will be devoted to the discussion of the following subjects:

Which is the cheapest method of bringing up a farm, by buying fertilizers or by feeding nitrogenous foods to live stock?

Which is the greatest injury to the soil, selling wheat or timothy hay from the farm?

What are the best crops for young orchards?

Does it pay to use ashes in Ohio orchards?

Is sub-soiling a desirable method of mitigating the effects of drought?

Can beef cattle be raised in Ohio at a profit?

What are the best six varieties of apples for profit in northern, central and southern Ohio?

Should the apparent overproduction of apples and grapes the past year discourage the further planting of these fruits?

Does it pay to build a silo if one is not a dairyman?

Can corn huskers and shredders be used successfully for filling silos?

Will the electric road benefit farmers and fruit growers as a means of freight conveyance?

Should horticulture be taught in our country schools?

Have our weeds any special fertilizing value?

Does it pay to grow rye to plow under?

What are the best strawberries for home use, and what for market?

Does it pay the average farmer to spray his fruit trees? And when and how should it be done?

Should the state attempt by legislation to control the destruction of the forests, and to promote the growth of forest trees?

Has the wealth of Ohio farms been reduced by the decline in rearing beef cattle?

What are the best trees for roadside planting?

In planting fruit orchards, is it necessary to have a mixture of varieties in order to secure the proper fertilization of the flowers?

The Torrens system of registration of land titles.

What is the present outlook for wheat culture in Ohio?

Is free rural mail delivery practicable?

ELECTED OFFICERS.

List of Those Selected by Rechabites Last Evening.

The Rechabites met last evening and elected the following officers, who will serve a term of one year: Chief ruler, W. H. Douglas; deputy ruler, J. P. Tompkins; recording secretary, George Smith; financial secretary, Frank Robinson; treasurer, M. S. Dunlap; levite, Bert Betteridge; shepherd, Robert Martin; inside guard, Arthur Smith; outside guard, Robert Twaddle; chaplain, Thomas Hall; trustees, W. T. Martin, S. C. Coleman and C. C. Menough. The installation of officers will take place next Monday evening.

GREEN LANE CULVERT

Almost Finished—Work Delayed at East End—Minerva Culvert Next.

Contractors Shingleton & Cunningham are putting the finishing touches to the Green lane culvert. The improvement was long desired, and now it is about completed, expressions of satisfaction are heard. The East End culvert would have been finished some time ago but for bad weather. The construction of the Minerva street culvert will be the next task undertaken by the contractors.

STILL FALLING.

Navigation Not Likely to Continue Very Long.

The river is still on the downward ebb, and it is feared navigation will soon close temporarily. Captain Calhoun, of the Virginia, hoped to leave for Pittsburg tomorrow, but except a speedy rise comes, the trip will not be attempted. The Ben Hur tied up in Pittsburg yesterday. The Keystone passed down last night. The Kanawha is due this afternoon. The ice in the river is disappearing.

Attending a Reunion.

Capt. J. A. Myers went to Columbiana this morning, where he will attend a reunion of the One Hundred and Seventy-Sixth regiment of Ohio Volunteer infantry. Captain Myers served with this regiment in the late war. The reunion will last two days.

SHARP'S TALE OF WOE

Poured Into the Ears of Mayor Gilbert This Morning.

WARRANTS HAVE BEEN ISSUED

For the Arrest of Two Men Who Used Abusive and Profane Language at His Residence Because They Were Not Permitted to See His Daughters.

James Sharp called at city hall this morning and recited to Mayor Gilbert a tale of numerous indignities himself and family had to contend with. He wanted to prefer charges against George Sipher and John Perdue, whom, he claimed, were responsible for much trouble. Warrants were issued for their arrest.

A few evenings ago Sipher and Perdue called at the Sharp residence, and asked for the two daughters of Sharp. They neglected to send in their cards, and as their appearance was against them, the daughters refused to be seen. This angered the pair, and they began to use profanity absolutely shocking.

Sharp ordered them to leave, and then the trouble began. Mrs. Sharp endeavored to persuade the unwelcome pair their presence was undesirable, and volleys of oaths were directed at her. Sharp hurried to the fire station for an officer, but before the latter arrived, the culprits had fled.

Mayor Gilbert was so deeply abstracted in making entries on his docket yesterday that he forgot to give the reporters two small cases he had. Saturday evening two lads named Gourley and Stewart used insulting language to a lady who was coming out of the opera house by way of the alley entrance, after the performance was over. These two worthies were quickly nabbed by an officer, taken to city hall and locked up. This morning they were fined $5.00. Neither had any money, and will work out their fines.

William Morrow, who is charged with permitting gambling on his premises, has not yet had his hearing.

NOT MUCH OF A PAPER.

And That's What's the Matter With the Lower Region Sheet.

Some ten days or two weeks since, the NEWS REVIEW gave an account of a church edifice to be dedicated in Wellsville, by the members of the Christian church of that place, the dedication to take place Jan. 10. Yesterday the lower region sheet came out with a big header respecting the same matter, evidently believing they were publishing a news item. By the way, the said lower region sheet must secure its news on much the same plan as it does its advertisements, namely—wait until the hustlers on the NEWS REVIEW have secured advertisements for the paper they so ably represent, and then haunt the merchants and get the same contracts as to space and size, at any price the merchant can be prevailed upon to give. Truly, the lower region sheet is not much of a newspaper.

TO OBTAIN A PACKAGE

A Daring Youngster Crawls to the Edge of the Ice.

Yesterday afternoon a daring youngster crawled to the edge of the shore ice at the foot of Union street for the purpose of obtaining a sack which was laying on the outer edge. The ice is very thin at the point, and spectators watched the boy for fear he would go in the river, but the lad obtained the sack and cautiously returned to shore, where he opened his prize and discovered he had all his labor for a dead cat.

ROCK SPRING PAVILION

Will Be Completed Just as Soon as Possible.

Workmen are actively engaged on the construction of Rock Spring pavilion. Every effort is being made to complete the structure on time, and the building is now in an advanced process of erection. President McDonald is delighted with the progress made. The task of placing down the rails of the street car line on the bridge have been finished.

NO TRESPASSING.

Until the Bridge Is Opened No One Allowed on It.

The employees of the bridge have been subjected to no little inconvenience lately by the large number of people who flock to the structure daily. Progress is retarded to such an extent that this morning a watchman was placed on duty, with instructions to keep persons back who had no business on the bridge.

Reverend Reed Spoke.

Rev. O. S. Reed attended the meeting of the ministerial association held in Fairview yesterday. He took an active part in the discussions.

Some ten days or two weeks since, the News Review gave an account of a church edifice to be dedicated in Wellsville, by the members of the Christian church of that place, the dedication to take place Jan. 10. Yesterday the lower region sheet came out with a big header respecting the same matter, evidently believing they were publishing a news item. By the way, the said lower region sheet must secure its news on much the same plan as it does its advertisements, namely—wait until the hustlers on the News Review have secured advertisements for the paper they so ably represent, and then haunt the merchants and get the same contracts as to space and size, at any price the merchant can be prevailed upon to give. Truly, the lower region sheet is not much of a newspaper.

A Daring Youngster Crawls to the Edge of the Ice.

Yesterday afternoon a daring youngster crawled to the edge of the shore ice at the foot of Union street for the purpose of obtaining a sack which was lying on the outer edge. The ice is very thin at the point, and spectators watched the boy for fear he would go in the river, but the lad obtained the sack and cautiously returned to shore, where he opened his prize and discovered he had all his labor for a dead cat.

ROCK SPRING PAVILION

Will Be Completed Just as Soon as Possible.

Workmen are actively engaged on the construction of Rock Spring pavilion. Every effort is being made to complete the structure on time, and the building is now in an advanced process of erection. President McDonald is delighted with the progress made. The task of placing down the rails of the street car line on the bridge have been finished.

NO TRESPASSING.

Until the Bridge Is Opened No One Allowed on It.

The employees of the bridge have been subjected to no little inconvenience lately by the large number of people who flock to the structure daily. Progress is retarded to such an extent that this morning a watchman was placed on duty, with instructions to keep persons back who had no business on the bridge.

UNION LABEL

HOW THEY HATE HIM.

Of course we have reference to the hated shown Hon. P. M. Smith by the lower region sheet. It is the old conflict of evil against right-of vice against purity, with the lower region sheet holding the unenviable end of the string. And what a willing tool the said detectable sheet has in the person of one of our sons. Sheet and backer, or tool, are even more to be pitied than condemned, and condemnation thereof, in the minds of the law-abiding citizens, is extremely warm.

REMYENI.

Professor Harper deserves commendation for his pluck in bringing the great violinist to East Liverpool. He deserves still warmer commendation for placing the price of admission so low that every lover of music in the city can hear him if they so desire. Miss Flora Parsons comes to us heralded as a mezzo soprano of great power and sweetness, while

Miss Flora Parsons is said to be an artist upon the piano. Our music loving people should give the Remyeni concert company a warm greeting, and thus encourage such first-class attractions and induce them to visit East Liverpool. We are glad to note that the sale of reserved seats is quite heavy.

DON QUIXOTE.

The Spanish officials who are now

busily engaged in an attempt to bluff

Uncle Sam, and who assert that the Spanish soldier is much superior to the Yankee soldier, do well to make note of the struggle now going on in Cuba, and tell us why Spain, with a force far superior to that of the Cubans;

with arms and ammunition in abundance; with a navy which she proudly boasts is superb, cannot conquer or subjugate the small army which confronts her, made up of troops illy disciplined and armed with any and every class of weapon known to warfare.

If Uncle Sam should finally see fit to recognize Cuba, and Spain should declare war against us in consequence,

there are numerous parties in this country who would be willing to take the contract to lick the haughty Dons into abject submission within the space of a twelve-month. Yes they would. Further than this, they'd be willing to take the contract from Uncle Sam with the proviso that if the said contract was not fulfilled within the twelve-month, then

Brother Jonathan wouldn't have to pay a single penny of the expense of the reaction. And the only proviso or promise that the contractors would exact of

Uncle Sam, would be that he would arrange matters with other foreign powers, and induce them to keep hands off.

MUNICIPAL OFFICERS.

As a rule, the laws and ordinances made for the control of a municipality are all right. The main trouble lies in the fact that existing laws and ordinances are not enforced. Where rests the fault? Of course every honest man will coincide with the statement that it is the fault, in a marked degree, of incompetent or dishonest and unfaithful officials—men who are untrue to the best interests of the city and to their oaths. Does the entire fault lie with these untrustworthy officials? The average thinker, he who honestly attempts to solve the problem, will take a step backward and ask the question:

"Who placed these unreliable and incompetent officials in office?" The question is pertinent and direct to the point at issue. Good and true citizens are oftentimes responsible for placing in power the very worst class of men. You naturally ask: "How can this be? Do good citizens act thus with their eyes open—do they vote for such fellows?

Do they elect one for them and work for them, simply because they belong to the party?" Well, no, they do not.

Nevertheless, they are very much to blame. "Why?" Well, because they,

the good citizens spoken of, do not do their duty at the primaries, but stay away from the polls and permit the worst element to control. You very naturally ask why good citizens, having the best interests of the city at heart, act in such a foolish manner. You know the answer—a stereotyped one, about as follows: "Yes, I stay away from the primaries on account of the tough element which assembles there. Those fellows seem to control everything, and

I have no desire to associate with them."

And that's just what that same tough element desires that good citizens shall do—stay at home and allow the roughs and toughs to nominate just the fellows to suit them—the fellows who will wink at their bad conduct and illegal practices when once in power. With the Australian ballot ruling at the coming primaries, much of the power of the hoodlum element will be destroyed, and it is the imperative duty of every good and true citizen to attend and cast his vote. Further than this, it is the duty of law-abiding and honest citizens to urge good and true men for the various offices, and then canvass for them with might and main. Honest and conscientious officials—men who attend to their duties, as they have made oath that they will, have very much to do with the advancement of the municipality over which they hold control.

SENEFELDER'S DISCOVERY.

The Great Value of Lithography in the World of Modern Art.

The full significance of Senefelder's great discovery, just 100 years ago, was not so much that a calcareous stone may be bitten by a weak solution of acid, so that the raised portion when greased (the surrounding parts being wet) may print in a press like a wood cut—though with a scraping, not a direct downward, pressure—but it consisted in the demonstration, in the first place, that prints from its surface may be reproduced in vast numbers without visible deterioration, and in the second, and still more important, that each such print is practically an original. Nay, more than this. As M. H. P. Dillon reminds me in a panegyric on his favorite art, the greatest merit of this method of preserving and indefinitely multiplying

a drawing lies in the escape of the artist

from the traduttore traditore—from misrepresentations by engraver or by camera. Indeed, when the artist has made his design upon the stone itself, each impression from it is as much the original as each and every photographic print taken from a negative is an original and not a copy of any other thing. Even when the artist has drawn upon transfer paper instead of on the stone (proceeding for convenience sake, which, in the opinion of some purists, is held in a measure to invalidate the name of lithography as applied to it, though not thereby reflecting in any degree on the beauty of the work itself),

the impressions taken are still originals, inasmuch as the actual work, the artist's own lines and dots, have in due course been transferred bodily by mechanical pressure to the surface of the stone, and this, after it has been inked and printed from, renders each proof then taken of equal excellence. And the point of it all is this, that until the stone is inked and a print taken the artist's work is not complete; so that every print does really become a genuine original. — M. H.

Spielmann in Scribner's.

A FALSE START.

An Episode of Feminine Fairness in

Which the Railroad Won.

They were two pretty girls, and they were evidently in high spirits when they entered an almost empty car

the other day. They carefully inspected the tubes which carry the fares along the sides of the vehicle to the box; then each one opened her purse.

"Tell you what," said the tall one.

"Let's race our nickel down, and the one that loses pays for both?"

"All right, let's," said the short one.

"Got your nickel ready? Go!"

"Mine's first!" cried the tall one.

"Five cents, please."

"Why, look," cried the short one.

"We didn't start fair! The box is on your side!"

"Why, so it is," said the tall one.

"Funny we didn't notice that before!

Let's try it over, and you stand that much nearer the box."

Again they each put in a nickel, and they dropped into the box simultaneously.

"Who has won, I'd like to know?"

said the tall girl. By this time the driver as well as the one other passenger was interested, and she spoke im-partially to them all. But the driver turned suddenly to his horses, and the other passenger looked out of the window, with a queer noise in his throat.

"I'm sure I don't know who has won," said the short girl snappishly,

"but one thing I do know—we have each paid 10 cents for a ride down town!"

And, after the driver had been appealed to and assured them that he could not return the superfluous coins, they rode on to their destination in silence. — Chicago Tribune.

SPAIN ASKS OUR AID.

Wants Olney to Negotiate With the Rebels.

REFORMS OFFERED TO THE CUBANS.

In Return For Our Good Offices Canvases

Apologizes For Commercial Losses We

Between United States and Cuba.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—It has been learned from an authoritative source that Secretary Olney and Senor Dupuy

de Lome, the Spanish minister, have practically terminated the negotiations on the Cuban question which are to be submitted to congress, when it convenes on Jan. 5. The terms of the agreement are based on the recent official communication from Premier Canovas.

The premier states clearly the terms which Spain will accord to the insurgents and practically asks the United States to propose these conditions to her rebellious subjects. In return for our good office, Spain assures this government that she sincerely deplors the great commercial loss which we have sustained on account of the Cuban disturbance. She assures us that she is even now considering a reciprocity treaty which will deal mainly with Cuban products, and which will be framed in such advantageous terms toward this government that our losses,

both in commerce and in the destruction of American property in Cuba, will be most generously compensated.

Premier Canovas says that Spain cannot, of course, as a self-respecting and respected nation, stand before the world

as having been coerced into measures

by the United States. She has freely granted all that she now offers, and that in the face of a rebellion. But she

DELAY BY VENEZUELA.

A Hitch In the Treaty Arranged by Olney.

EVIDENTLY AFRAID OF TRICKERY.

The Venezuelans Demand the Treaty Fully Completed Instead of the Rough Draft Now Ready Before They Agree. Salisbury Has Arbitration Document.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—Secretary Olney has had a long conference at the British embassy with Sir Julian Pauncefote, the British ambassador, relative to the status of the Venezuelan settlement and the general treaty of arbitration between the United States and Great Britain. Mr. Olney's call followed the arrival of Minister Andrade of Venezuela and Mr. James J. Storrow, counsel in the Venezuela case. The results of the conference were guarded with the usual secrecy which prevails at meetings between the secretary and the ambassador, but there is good reason to believe it was the occasion for going over several new phases of the Venezuelan question which have developed with the return of the officials from Caracas.

The officials themselves are extremely reticent, and will say, only in general terms, that the prospect of an acceptance of the settlement by Venezuela is good. It is understood, however, that there are important limitations to this acceptance, which appear to make the case less hopeful of an immediate and satisfactory conclusion than has been expected.

The plan of an extra session of the Venezuelan congress has been practically abandoned. When the settlement was made in Washington two months ago little doubt existed that an extra session would be called immediately by President Crespo. Messrs. Andrade and Storrow left for Caracas to urge President Crespo and the government authorities to secure an immediate acceptance. On arriving at Caracas Mr. Andrade cabled Secretary Olney that President Crespo would call an extra session. This was received with satisfaction at the state department as an evidence that Venezuela would act promptly. Since then, however, no call for an extra session has been issued. It has developed also that a strong sentiment existed against an extra session coming only a short time before the regular session of Feb. 20. It may be that the regular session will be called early, probably Feb. 1.

President Crespo and the government authorities have expressed satisfaction with the general results of the settlement so far as they secured arbitration, yet they have not yet expressed official approval of all the details of the settlement. When the settlement was made in Washington, a rough draft of the general features of the settlement was made. This contemplated the subsequent negotiation of an arbitration treaty between Great Britain and Venezuela, on the general lines prescribed by the settlement. But the Venezuelan authorities prefer to see the treaty itself, instead of an agreement for a treaty, and the present indications are that Venezuela will give no acceptance until the entire phraseology of the treaty with all its terms and qualifications is completed. This may take considerable time.

In official and diplomatic circles there continues to be a satisfactory and hopeful view taken of the situation. At the same time the practical abandonment of the extra session of the Venezuela congress, and the disposition to close all negotiations on the final treaty before an acceptance is given, do not increase the prospects of a speedy conclusion of the case.

On the question of general arbitration between the United States and Great Britain, Mr. Olney and Sir Julian have made their final draft of the treaty, and it is in the hands of Lord Salisbury awaiting its approval. No doubt exists of his approval, and it is expected to come daily.

A WAR AMONG CHURCHMEN.

Catholic Liberals and the Hierarchy Disagree in Quebec Province. MONTREAL, Dec. 29.—At Three Rivers a suit has been brought to test the right of certain Catholic clergy to electioneer against the Liberal candidates.

QUEBEC, Dec. 29.—Le Soleil, the new French-Canadian Liberal paper which has taken the place of L'Electeur, has come out. It was sent to all the subscribers of L'Electeur, and is virtually L'Electeur under another name. This shows the plan of campaign which the Catholic Liberals intend to follow against the hierarchy. Should the bishops excommunicate Le Soleil, they will drop that and immediately start another paper.

MONTREAL, Dec. 29.—La Patrie of this city, come out with a two column defiance of the Catholic hierarchy, in which it calls upon all Liberal Catholics to revolt.

THE ALABAMA WRECKS.

Death List Now Estimated at 24—A Survivor Dies.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Dec. 29.—The death list from the wreck at Cahaba river, whereby a Birmingham Mineral railroad train dropped through a bridge 110 feet high on the Southern railway, appears now to have grown to 24. This includes the death of W. D. Rast, a bridge foreman, who was killed in the second wreck.

Twenty-one bodies were taken from Cahaba river, and since then it has been ascertained that S. W. Tibbs and wife, who boarded the ill-fated train at Gurney for Adger, are missing. Andrew Bryson of Blount, one of the survivors, has died.

MCKINLEY ON BIMETALLISM.

Wolcott Says the Major Wants the Platform Pledge Carried Out.

CANTON, Dec. 29.—United States Senator E. O. Wolcott of Denver, has called on Major McKinley. Senator Wolcott was in earnest conference with Major McKinley for over two hours. He said: "I came to Canton to call on the president-elect to further the cause of international bimetalism, the United States senate having appointed a committee of five, of which I was made president, to prepare a bill in the interests of this cause."

It is understood that Senator Wolcott has the legislation, which his committee will propose, substantially outlined and prepared and that its provisions were under discussion at the conference this morning. When asked if Major McKinley had taken up the matter with him he said: "I am glad to say that the incoming president was deeply interested in the cause of bimetalism. We went over the subject at considerable length and he was most earnest in his desire that the Republican platform pledge for the furtherance of an international agreement should be promptly made good by proper legislative action."

The bill will provide for the appointment of a commission to confer with the representatives of other nations to take steps toward expediting an international agreement.

Old Railroad Engineer Dead.

FREMONT, O., Dec. 29.—James R. Francisco has died here in his 83d year. He was one of the oldest railway engineers in the country. He operated the John Bull engine, which was brought from Camden and Amherst railroad to take place of horses that had formerly hauled the cars. That famous engine was exhibited at the World's fair.

General McCook Visiting Hanna.

CLEVELAND, Dec. 29.—General Anson G. McCook, city chamberlain of New York, is the guest of Hon. M. A. Hanna at his home, Windermere. His visit has no political significance. General McCook and Mr. Hanna were school-boys together, and the latter invited his old friend to spend part of the holidays with him.

Less Hands Employed.

COLUMBUS, Dec. 29.—Statistics just compiled by State Labor Commissioner Ruehrwein from 1,368 industrial establishments in 46 states and territories show that 52,448 less hands were employed in those establishments in July, 1896, than in July, 1892, and that $19,214,448 less was paid out annually in wages.

Won't Sell the Road.

LIMA, O., Dec. 29.—The foreclosure sale of the Ohio Southern railway which was postponed from Nov. 7 to the 31st of this month has again been postponed, this time indefinitely. It is now said that the road will not be sold at all, but that the Lima Northern company has practically secured it.

A Failure in Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, Dec. 29.—Frank Duhme and Hermann Duhme, Jr., have filed a petition with the clerk of the court of common pleas for the appointment of a receiver for the Duhme company, dealers in watches, jewelry, silverware, etc. The assets and liabilities are not known.

THE CAMERA KNEW.

WHY THE PHOTOGRAPHER COULDN'T GET A GOOD NEGATIVE.

The Sensitized Plate Discovers an Eruption Before the Eye Could See It—It Showed in This Case That "Beauty is Only Skin Deep" and the Skin Was Thin.

The following remarkable story is vouched for by a well known clerical gentleman of this city, who always has a fund of amusing yarns at his tongue's end which are new and entertaining.

Some time ago a handsome and interesting society woman entered the studio of a famous metropolitan photographer for the purpose of having her lovely features perpetuated upon cardboard. The artist knew his client and was very anxious to please her and produce a picture worthy of so fair a subject. Consequently he spared neither time nor care in arranging a satisfactory pose.

The lady sighed with relief, and the artist disappeared with his plates into the dark room. In a short time, however, he returned, wearing a puzzled and somewhat chagrined look upon his face. With many apologies he informed the lady that for some unaccountable reason his plates would not develop. In fact, they were hopelessly ruined, and he would have to beg her to give him another sitting.

The lady was in a hurry, as she had a dinner engagement, but, anxious to have the business over with as long as she had commenced it, she reluctantly prepared to undergo another siege of contortions and poses. The photographer was slightly nervous by this time, and it was somehow not so easy to arrange the draperies in careless ease or to arrange that queenly head to the best advantage. Do his best, she, who was naturally so graceful, seemed, when viewed through the camera, to be all angles, the shoulders too high or the head too low. But at last all was well, and again he removed the cap, having previously most carefully examined the plates to see that no imperfections existed there.

"Oh, I am sure there cannot possibly be any defects this time," he replied reassuringly as he retired to the seclusion of darkness. When in a few moments he appeared again, his face was a study, comical in its puzzled despair. The lady could not refrain a smile as she asked: "Well?"

"No, madam, not well at all—in fact, I never saw sicker looking negatives. To tell the truth, I can't in the least account for it, but the features are so blurred as to be indistinguishable. I never in all my experience had anything like it before, nor can I in any way account for it," said the artist. "I am sure the plates were in perfect condition, as I examined them most carefully. The fault must be in the chemicals, though I never had any trouble that way before. I am really very sorry for the unfortunate failures, but if your patience is not wholly exhausted I would like to try once more."

The lady herself was not only a very determined character, but of an inquiring mind as well, and little relished being baffled at any undertaking; so she replied facetiously: "I have heard tell of people breaking the camera in attempting to have their ugliness perpetuated, but really, now, I flattered myself that I was not quite so bad as that. I don't like to be defeated in so small a matter, so we will try again, even if I miss my engagement."

"Suppose we try a different plan," she continued as the artist again set about arranging screens and shades. "Let me pose myself, and we will have only the head idealized. Make it a perfect profile. I know my own features and good points so well that I am sure we shall have better results if I simply take my own natural position, and, besides, it will save time."

And so the lady's Grecian features were sharply outlined against a black background, and again the artist attempted to make a negative, and the lady awaited the result. She was not long in suspense.

"It's really no use," said the artist finally as he showed her a plate he had tried to develop, and which revealed, instead of her classic profile, a blurred, indistinct mass of—what? Neither could tell, but certainly it resembled nothing human.

"It is quite incomprehensible," said the artist. "There is no use trying again, for it is evident I cannot get a picture of you. Why it is I cannot tell, but I may be able to unravel the mystery some time. I even tried fresh chemicals with these, but with no better results. If you will call again some other day, we may do better," he concluded dolefully as the lady took her departure, rather disgusted.

The next day the artist received this note: "No.—WEST FIFTY-NINTH STREET. MY DEAR SIR—Were you to see my face today it is possible your failure of yesterday might be logically explained. It is a perfect mass of eruptions from the measles, which made their appearance during the night. My eyes are swollen shut, and my face almost unrecognizable. It is possible the condition of my skin was such that the sensitive plate reproduced it? I will try again when I recover. Yours, Mrs. —"

Per Mail. It was even as she suggested. That which was so near the surface, but had not yet penetrated the skin, was clearly brought out by photography. In other words, the measles were photographed before they appeared.—Rochester Democrat and Chronicle.

ENGLAND AND AMERICA.

The Great Chain of Letters That Bind the Two Nations.

A most interesting summary of the business of the postoffice of the United Kingdom has been compiled by Mr. J. Holt Schooling, a member of the Royal Statistical society of London. It is of peculiar value to Americans, not only as affording a means of comparison with our own postoffice work, but because it shows anew the close bonds of business and friendship between the two great nations. Mr. Schooling illustrates his statistics with graphic diagrams.

The first thing that strikes the eye in the report is the cost of the British postal service and the profit, for Great Britain makes a profit in this department. The wages of employees alone amount to $32,500,000 a year, while the total cost of the department for the same period is $53,750,000.

The receipts amount to $68,750,000, leaving a balance of $15,000,000 profit a year. This would make a very startling comparison with a large yearly deficit of our own postoffice were it not remembered that Great Britain owns the telegraph too. Doubtless large telegraphic profits offset a deficit in the strictly postal business. On this point Mr. Schooling is unfortunately silent.

While Great Britain exchanges 98,000,000 letters with Europe, she exchanges 61,000,000 with America. This shows the bond between Europe and America, for the next continent on the list is Asia, with whom she makes only 22,000,000 exchanges.

In the comparison of nations the United States stands far ahead of any other, for 41,000,000 letters are exchanged annually between us and Great Britain. The next on the list is France, with an exchange of 25,750,000 letters, and Germany is third, with an exchange of 25,300,000. No other nation approaches nearer Italy's 6,500,000.

The increase in letter writing in the last 50 years, due to increased education and the enlargement of friendship, business and common interests in general, is very interestingly shown in the compiler's tables. In 1846, for instance, the British postoffice delivered 10 letters for every head of population, while in 1894 46 letters for each head of population were delivered.

With similar intent Mr. Schooling says: "Twenty years ago the activity of a tiny spot in the tiny spot marked London annually delivered 72 letters in the United Kingdom for every 100 persons living on the area of the whole world, a sufficiently remarkable performance even then. But now this wonderful postoffice machine delivers in these little islands only a number of letters that suffices to provide each unit of the world's population with nearly 14 letters annually, and this without including any of the other considerable items of postal matter, such as book packets, post cards, newspapers, circulars, telegrams, etc."

The comparative diagrams indicate the amount of postal matter exchanged by the United Kingdom with the other continents. They show how closely we are bound to the queen's realm through the ties of the post.—New York Herald.

A Boy's Improvement on the Usual Programme in Fairy Stories.

"Business" is the watchword of the day, and the small boy is developing on that line with a rapidity which astonishes the previous generation. But the practical side of his nature has not obscured the poetry of childhood. The fairy tale is as potent as ever, and there was a smile of pleasure on the face of the lad who remarked at breakfast: "I had a beautiful dream last night."

"What was it?" his father asked. "I thought I was out in the woods, and I saw a most gorgeously dressed lady coming toward me."

"That is a good deal like some of the stories that you have been reading."

"Yes; it doesn't get very different until the end. I knew by her looks that she was the fairy queen, and I made up my mind that I wasn't going to lose chances like some of the boys in stories, books who didn't know a good chance when they saw it."

"Did she offer you three wishes?"

"Yes, and I called to mind how she sometimes took advantage of a mortal's being excited and nervous when he wished in order to make him waste his opportunities and have a good laugh at him. So when she said, 'Little boy, I'll give you three wishes, I didn't jump at the chance. I said, 'Will you give me whatever I ask for?' She answered: 'Yes; you may have three wishes.'"

"What did you do?"

"I wished for four."—Washington Star.

Silenced the "Masher." He had a smile as bright as his gayly colored top as he rode up alongside a demure young woman who was walking in Central park the other morning upon one of the asphalt paths. She heard the rattle of wheels at her side, yet she turned neither to the right nor to the left.

"Good morning!" said the handsome young man as he raised his straw hat with the dizzy band. "Wouldn't you like to take a ride with me this morning?"

The girl didn't say "Sir-r-r!" or "What means this intrusion?" She slowly turned around and looked the young man over from head to foot. He bore her gaze without flinching and started to get down from his seat, as if to assist her into the trap.

The girl looked at him, and then at the pocketbook which she held in her hand.

"I don't know," she said half aloud. "I don't know, I'm sure. How much would you charge to take me to the Art museum?"

There was a whirl of yellow trap, of bright red hatted and flying wheels. "You'll do!" the young man said as he rapidly drove away.—Exchange.

DELAY BY VENEZUELA.

A Hitch In the Treaty Arranged by Olney.

EVIDENTLY AFRAID OF TRICKERY.

The Venezuelans Demand the Treaty Fully Completed Instead of the Rough Draft Now Ready Before They Agree. Salisbury Has Arbitration Document.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—Secretary Olney has had a long conference at the British embassy with Sir Julian Pauncefote, the British ambassador, relative to the status of the Venezuelan settlement and the general treaty of arbitration between the United States and Great Britain. Mr. Olney's call followed the arrival of Minister Andrade of Venezuela and Mr. James J. Storrow, counsel in the Venezuela case. The results of the conference were guarded with the usual secrecy which prevails at meetings between the secretary and the ambassador, but there is good reason to believe it was the occasion for going over several new phases of the Venezuelan question which have developed with the return of the officials from Caracas.

The officials themselves are extremely reticent, and will say, only in general terms, that the prospect of an acceptance of the settlement by Venezuela is good. It is understood, however, that there are important limitations to this acceptance, which appear to make the case less hopeful of an immediate and satisfactory conclusion than has been expected.

The plan of an extra session of the Venezuelan congress has been practically abandoned. When the settlement was made in Washington two months ago little doubt existed that an extra session would be called immediately by President Crespo. Messrs. Andrade and Storrow left for Caracas to urge authorities to secure an immediate acceptance. On arriving at Caracas Mr. Andrade cabled Secretary Olney that President Crespo would call an extra session. This was received with satisfaction at the state department as an evidence that Venezuela would act promptly. Since then, however, no call for an extra session has been issued. It has developed also that a strong sentiment exists against an extra session coming only a short time before the regular session of Feb. 30. It may be that the regular session will be called early, probably Feb. 1.

President Crespo and the government authorities have expressed satisfaction with the general results of the settlement so far as they secured arbitration, yet they have not yet expressed official approval of all the details of the settlement. When the settlement was made in Washington, a rough draft of the general features of the settlement was made. This contemplated the arbitration treaty between Great Britain and Venezuela, on the general lines prescribed by the settlement. But the Venezuela authorities prefer to see the treaty itself, instead of an agreement for a treaty, and the present indications are that Venezuela will give no acceptance until the entire phrasology of the treaty with all its terms and qualifications is completed. This may take considerable time.

In official and diplomatic circles there continues to be a satisfactory and hopeful view taken of the situation. At the same time the practical abandonment of the extra session of the Venezuela congress, and the disposition to close all negotiations on the final treaty before an acceptance is given, do not increase the prospects of a speedy conclusion of the case.

A WAR AMONG CHURCHMEN.

Catholic Liberals and the Hierarchy Disagree In Quebec Province. MONTREAL, Dec. 29.—At Three Rivers a suit has been brought to test the right of certain Catholic clergy to electioneer against the Liberal candidates.

QUEBEC, Dec. 29.—Le Soleil, the new French-Canadian Liberal paper which has taken the place of L'Electeur, has come out. It was sent to all the subscribers of the L'Electeur, and is virtually L'Electeur under another name. This shows the plan of a campaign which the Catholic Liberals intend to follow against the hierarchy. Should the bishops excommunicate Le Soleil, they will drop that and immediately start another paper.

MONTREAL, Dec. 29.—La Patrie of this city, come out with two columns of defiance of the Catholic hierarchy, in which it calls upon all Liberal Catholics to revolt.

THE ALABAMA WRECKS.

Death List Now Estimated at 24—A Survivor Dies.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Dec. 29.—The death list from the wreck at Cahaba river, whereby a Birmingham Mineral railroad train dropped through a bridge 110 feet high on the Southern railway, appears now to have grown to 24. This includes the death of W. D. Rast, a bridge foreman, who was killed in the second wreck.

Twenty-one bodies were taken from Cahaba river, and since then it has been ascertained that S. W. Tibbs and wife, who boarded the ill-fated train at Gurney for Adger, are missing. Andrew Bryson of Blocton, one of the survivors, has died.

LEXINGTON, Dec. 29.—Kentucky's vote of 12 electors for McKinley and 1 for Bryan is final. The time has expired in which a notice of contest can be filed.

MCKINLEY ON BIMETALLISM.

Wolcott Says the Major Wants the Platform Pledge Carried Out.

CANTON, Dec. 29.—United States Senator E. O. Wolcott of Denver, has called on Major McKinley. Senator Wolcott was in earnest conference with Major McKinley for over two hours. He said: "I came to Canton to call on the president-elect to further the cause of international bimetalism, the United States senate having appointed a committee of five, of which I was made president, to prepare a bill in the interests of this cause."

It is understood that Senator Wolcott has the legislation, which his committee will propose, substantially outlined and prepared and that its provisions were under discussion at the conference this morning. When asked if Major McKinley had taken up the matter with him he said: "I am glad to say that the incoming president was deeply interested in the cause of bimetalism. We went over the subject at considerable length and he was most earnest in his desire that the Republican platform pledge for the furtherance of an international agreement should be promptly made good by proper legislative action."

Old Railroad Engineer Dead.

FREMONT, O., Dec. 29.—James R. Francisco has died here in his 83d year. He was one of the oldest railway engineers in the country. He operated the John Bull engine, which was brought from England in 1838, and was placed in the Camden and Amboy railroad to take place of horses that had formerly hauled the cars. That famous engine was exhibited at the World's fair.

General McCook Visiting Hanna.

CLEVELAND, Dec. 29.—General Anson G. McCook, city chamberlain of New York, is the guest of Hon. M. A. Hanna at his home, Windermere. His visit has no political significance. General McCook and Mr. Hanna were school-boys together, and the latter invited his old friend to spend part of the holidays with him.

Less Hands Employed.

COLUMBUS, Dec. 29.—Statistics just compiled by State Labor Commissioner Rueherwein from 1,385 industrial establishments in 46 states and territories show that 52,448 less hands were employed in those establishments in July, 1896, than in July, 1892, and that $19,214,448 less is paid out annually in wages.

Won't Sell the Road.

LIMA, O., Dec. 29.—The foreclosure sale of the Ohio Southern railway which was postponed from Nov. 7 to the 31st of this month has again been postponed, this time indefinitely. It is now said that the road will not be sold at all, but that the Lima Northern company has practically secured it.

A Failure In Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, Dec. 29.—Frank Duhme and Herman Duhme, Jr., have filed a petition with the clerk of the court of common pleas for the appointment of a receiver for the Duhme company, dealers in watches, jewelry, silverware, etc. The assets and liabilities are not known.

SENATORIAL CONTEST ON.

The Combatants Open Their Headquarters at Harrisburg.

HARRISBURG, Dec. 29.—Senator Thomas has returned from Philadelphia and the Penrose headquarters at the Lochiel hotel may now be regarded as fixed until the end of the contest. There were few callers during the day and the developments in the struggle for Cameron's place were neither important nor exciting. Senator Penrose will be here tomorrow, and by that time the other headquarters assistants will be on the ground.

The Wanamaker forces will be marshalled on Thursday, when headquarters will be opened at the Common-wealth and also at the Business Men's League rooms, on Walnut street, where paperhangers and carpenters are getting the rooms in shape for the work of the league. Thomas Dolan will have charge of the Wanamaker interests, with David Martin and Frank Willing Leach as side partners.

THE CAMERA KNEW.

WHY THE PHOTOGRAPHER COULDN'T GET A GOOD NEGATIVE.

The Sensitized Plate Discovers an Eruption Before the Eye Could See It—It Showed In This Case That "Beauty Is Only Skin Deep" and the Skin Was Thin.

The following remarkable story is vouched for by a well known clerical gentleman of this city, who always has a fund of amusing yarns at his tongue's end which are new and entertaining.

Some time ago a handsome and interesting society woman entered the studio of a famous metropolitan photographer for the purpose of having her lovely features perpetuated upon cardboard. The artist knew his client and was very anxious to please her and produce a picture worthy of so fair a subject. Consequently he spared neither time nor care in arranging a satisfactory pose.

Finally everything was in readiness, the lady was told to "look pleasant," the camera "sprung" and she had been "taken." The lady sighed with relief, and the artist disappeared with his plates into the dark room. In a short time, however, he returned, wearing a puzzled and somewhat chagrined look upon his face. With many apologies he informed the lady that for some unaccountable reason his plates would not develop. In fact, they were hopelessly ruined, and he would have to beg her to give him another sitting.

The lady was in a hurry, as she had a dinner engagement, but, anxious to have the business over with as long as she had commenced it, she reluctantly prepared to undergo another siege of contortions and poses. The photographer was slightly nervous by this time, and it was somehow not so easy to arrange the draperies in careless ease or to arrange that queenly head to the best advantage. Do his best, she, who was naturally so graceful, seemed, when viewed through the camera, to be all angles, the shoulders too high or the head too low. But at last all was well, and again he removed the cap, having previously most carefully examined the plates to see that no imperfections existed there.

"Oh, I am sure there cannot possibly be any defects this time," he replied reassuringly as he retired to the seclusion of darkness. When in a few moments he appeared again, his face was a study, comical in its puzzled despair. The lady could not refrain a smile as she asked, "Well?"

"No, madam, not well at all—in fact, I never saw sicker looking negatives. To tell the truth, I can't in the least account for it, but the features are so blurred as to be indistinguishable. I never in all my experience had anything like it before, nor can I in any way account for it," said the artist. "I am sure the plates were in perfect condition, as I examined them most carefully. The fault must be in the chemicals, though I never had any trouble that way before. I am really very sorry for the unfortunate failures, but if your patience is not wholly exhausted I would like to try once more."

The lady herself was not only a very determined character, but of an inquiring mind as well, and little relished being baffled at any undertaking; so she replied facetiously:

"I have heard tell of people breaking the camera in attempting to have their ugliness perpetuated, but really, now, I flattered myself that I was not quite so bad as that. I don't like to be defeated in so small a matter, so we will try again, even if I miss my engagement."

"Suppose we try a different plan," she continued as the artist again set about arranging screens and shades. "Let me pose myself, and we will have only the head idealized. Make it a perfect profile. I know my own features and good points so well that I am sure we shall have better results if I simply take my own natural position, and, besides, it will save time."

And so the lady's Grecian features were sharply outlined against a black background, and again the artist attempted to make a negative, and the lady awaited the result. She was not long in suspense.

"It's really no use," said the artist finally as he showed her a plate he had tried to develop, and which revealed, instead of her classic profile, a blurred, indistinct mass of—what? Neither could tell, but certainly it resembled nothing human.

"It is quite incomprehensible," said the artist. "There is no use trying again, for it is evident I cannot get a picture of you. Why it is I cannot tell, but I may be able to unravel the mystery some time. I even tried fresh chemicals with these, but with no better results. If you will call again some other day, we may do better," he concluded dolefully as the lady took her departure, rather disgusted.

The next day the artist received this note:

No.—WEST FIFTY-NINTH STREET.
MY DEAR SIR—Were you to see my face to-day it is possible your failure of yesterday might be logically explained. It is a perfect mass of eruptions from the measles, which made their appearance during the night. My eyes are swollen shut and my face almost unrecognizable. Is it possible the condition of my skin was such that the sensitive plate reproduced it? I will try again when I recover. Yours,
Mrs. —.

It was even as she suggested. That which was so near the surface, but had not yet penetrated the skin, was clearly brought out by photography. In other words, the measles were photographed before they appeared.—Rochester Democrat and Chronicle.

Vulcanized.

Foreman—That india rubber man just won't become submissive. He seems to get harder every day.

Satan—It can't be helped, I guess. Rubber and sulphur burned in combination always act that way.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

ENGLAND AND AMERICA.

The Great Chain of Letters That Bind the Two Nations.

A most interesting summary of the business of the postoffice of the United Kingdom has been compiled by Mr. J. Holt Schooling, a member of the Royal Statistical society of London. It is of peculiar value to Americans, not only as affording a means of comparison with our own postoffice work, but because it shows anew the close bonds of business and friendship between the two great nations. Mr. Schooling illustrates his statistics with graphic diagrams.

The first thing that strikes the eye in the report is the cost of the British postal service and the profit, for Great Britain makes a profit in this department. The wages of employees alone amount to $32,500,000 a year, while the total cost of the department for the same period is $33,750,000.

The receipts amount to $68,750,000, leaving a balance of $15,000,000 profit a year. This would make a very startling comparison with a large yearly deficit of our own postoffice were it not remembered that Great Britain owns the telegraph too. Doubtless large telegraphic profits offset a deficit in the strictly postal business. On this point Mr. Schooling is unfortunately silent.

While Great Britain exchanges 98,000,000 letters with Europe, she exchanges 61,000,000 with America. This shows the bond between Europe and America, for the next continent on the list is Asia, with whom she makes only 22,000,000 exchanges.

In the comparison of nations the United States stands far ahead of any other, for 41,000,000 letters are exchanged annually between us and Great Britain. The next on the list is France, with an exchange of 25,750,000 letters, and Germany is third, with an exchange of 25,300,000. No other nation approaches nearer than Italy's 6,500,000.

The increase in letter writing in the last 50 years, due to increased education and the enlargement of friendship, business and common interests in general, is very interestingly shown in the compiler's tables. In 1846, for instance, the British postoffice delivered 10 letters for every head of population, while in 1894 46 letters for each head of population were delivered.

With similar intent Mr. Schooling says:

"Twenty years ago the activity of a tiny spot in the tiny spot marked London annually delivered 73 letters in the United Kingdom for every 100 persons living on the area of the whole world, a sufficiently remarkable performance even then. But now this wonderful postoffice machine delivers in these little islands only a number of letters that suffices to provide each unit of the world's population with nearly 1 1/2 letters annually, and this without including any of the other considerable items of postal matter, such as book packets, post cards, newspapers, circulars, telegrams, etc."

The comparative diagrams indicate the amount of postal matter exchanged by the United Kingdom with the other continents. They show how closely we are bound to the queen's realm through the ties of the post.—New York Herald.

"Business" is the watchword of the day, and the small boy is developing on that line with a rapidity which astonishes the previous generation. But the practical side of his nature has not obscured the poetry of childhood. The fairy tale is as potent as ever, and there was a smile of pleasure on the face of the lad who remarked at breakfast:

"I had a beautiful dream last night."

"What was it?" his father asked.

"I thought I was out in the woods."

"I saw a most gorgeously dressed lady coming toward me."

"That is a good deal like some of the stories that you have been reading."

"Yes; it doesn't get very different until the end. I knew by her looks that she was the fairy queen, and I made up my mind that I wasn't going to lose chances like some of the boys in stories, books who didn't know a good chance when they saw it."

Silenced the "Masher."

He "had a smile as bright as his gayly colored trap as he rode up alongside a demure young woman who was walking in Central park the other morning upon one of the asphalt paths. She heard the rattle of wheels at her side, yet she turned neither to the right nor to the left.

"Good morning!" said the handsome young man as he raised his straw hat with the dizzy band. "Wouldn't you like to take a ride with me this morning?"

The girl didn't say "Sir-r-r!" or "What means this intrusion?" She slowly turned around and looked the young man over from head to foot. He bore her gaze without flinching and started to get down from his seat, as if to assist her into the trap.

The girl looked at him, and then at the pocketbook which she held in her hand.

"I don't know," she said half aloud.

"I don't know, I'm sure. How much would you charge to take me to the Art museum?"

There was a whirl of yellow trap, of bright red hatband and flying wheels. "You'll do!" the young man said as he rapidly drove away.—Exchange.

Around city hall Mayor Gilbert is achieving fame as an artist. With pencil in hand the chief executive spends many idle moments sketching caricatures of the officials. Scattered over the desk on waste paper may be found many interesting specimens of the skill of his honor.

Does legitimate, common sense advertising pay, no matter if the outlay may seem very heavy to the man who does not advertise? And the answer comes from one of the heaviest advertisers in this city, as he handed a check in full for his bill to the writer. Here are his words: "Yes, I am more than pleased with my investment in printers' ink, and I am satisfied that my advertising has brought me full recompense." Of course the News Review is the paper to garner money for advertisers. Follow the example of this pushing, progressive merchant, and your bank account will be all right.

SWEDISH QUARTETTE.

This Popular Combination Will Be Here Thursday Night.

On Thursday night, Dec. 31, at the new association hall, Fifth street, where the Young Men's Christian association quarters are now located, this justly celebrated quartette will charm the citizens of East Liverpool. These sweet singers are famous all over the land, and they attract crowded houses wherever they sing. Miss Bertha Webb, violinist, plays superbly, and has won warm praise from thoroughly competent critics. Miss Jennie Shoemaker, dramatic impersonator, is most excellent in her specialties, and is simply splendid in Delsartean work. There is not a weak point in the combination, and residents of this city can be assured of a genuine treat on Thursday night.

Reserved seats for the Remenyi concert can be had only at Reed's drug store.

LIVERPOOL SKATERS

PRETTY NEWS REVIEW

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

Celebrated for its great leavening strength and healthfulness. Assures the food against all adulterations common to the cheap brands.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., New York.

WELLSVILLE.

A GOOD BUSINESS

Was Done by Mayor Jones Yesterday Afternoon.

Business is unusually brisk at city hall, and the officials are in the best of spirits, and all because eight people had not finished their Christmas festivities at the proper time. The first victim to be called before Mayor Jones was Malcom Evans, who answered to the charge of disorderly conduct. He was quickly disposed of, and B. H. Morris took his place in line, and also answered to a disorderly charge. He was fined the same amount as his predecessor, and there appeared on the scene Harry Colwell, John Colwell, Joe Bradley, Frank Smith, William Hood and Tom Thorne, who were guilty of drinking too much corn juice. They were assessed the usual fine and permitted to depart, after liquidating the debt.

WEARY WILLIES

Are Now Very Numerous at the Brick Works.

The Vulcan brick works are at present besieged with visitors of all nationalities, who claim to hail from all parts of the country. They are the kind of people known as Weary Willies, and they dine and sleep around the kilns just as though they owned the place. What they eat is begged from the people in the city, but they never fail to return to their accustomed haunts at meal time. They are a great nuisance to the proprietor of the works, and it is probable a wholesale raid will be made soon.

SPILED THE MILK.

But the Driver Escaped Without Serious Injury.

Yesterday morning as a horse and sleigh, in which were two milk cans, was turning the corner of Commerce and Tenth streets, the horse became frightened and gave a quick jump, throwing the driver and cans out of the sleigh on the ground. The milk was all spilled, but the driver was uninjured beyond a few bruises. The horse ran a short distance before it was captured.

Miss Mary Beaufort died yesterday afternoon from an attack of typhoid fever. The funeral will take place Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Reverend Carson officiating.

The child of Engineer Samuel Javens, who is visiting in Pittsburg, is ill with an attack of membranous croup. The gentleman recently lost two children with the same disease in this city.

Joe Sutton, while skating at the upper bar yesterday afternoon, had the misfortune to break through the ice. The water was not deep and he had no trouble getting out.

Joe Davidson, operator at Portland, has returned after a visit with his father, Main street. He was accompanied by his sister Esther, who will visit with him for several days.

A MOTION

Filled to Dissolve an Injunction Yesterday Afternoon.

LISBON, Dec. 29.—(Special).—In common pleas court yesterday afternoon the case of B. F. Ambler and others, trustees of the Salem railroad, against J. T. Brookes, was heard on a motion to dissolve the injunction which Judge Smith issued last March, and which restrained the defendant from tearing up a switch belonging to the railroad. This switch was built in '98, and under an agreement made with the Wirsching Church Organ company, who then owned the land. The property has since come into the hands of Brookes, who notified the trustees of the railway company to remove the switch. This they refused to do, and the court enjoined Brookes from proceeding in the matter. Judge Smith will not rule on the motion until the next term of court.

Judge Smith yesterday overruled a motion for a new trial in the case of the Specialty Glass company against F. I. Simmers and Charles E. Macrum.

The October term of court adjourned last evening until Monday, Jan. 18, when the next term will begin.

The following marriage licenses were issued: J. C. Clark and Miss Ida M. Thorne, East Liverpool; Frank Blackburn and Miss Anna B. Clark, Wellsville.

THE Tiffin Pottery

Will Resume Operations in Fall in the Near Future.

W. G. Beardmore, who has been visiting friends here, left for Akron last evening. He will remain there for a few days and then return to Tiffin, where he is employed in the sanitary pottery. He says the Tiffin plant, which has been idle for weeks, will start in full in a short time.

Two From Liverpool.

The colony of prisoners at present harbored within the environments of the county jail number 14. Of these, two are from East Liverpool, namely: Wilbur H. A LONG SEARCH.

Everywhere Kitty had sought the quotation—Browning and Tennyson, Shelley and Lang. Shakespear she handled with great veneration.

Shutting, however, the tones with a bang. Byron she searched, and Swinburne so burning—

Goose, Austin Dobson, Stevenson, Moore. Leaves of each one she was faithfully turning. Hopeless her search as ever before.

Then wearied, fearful, she angrily flitted. Out of the library—rushed she distraught.

"Let's give it up," then she poutingly blurted. "For I have forgotten the line that we sought."

A SHOWER IN THE VILLAGE.

This Word Picture Somehow Awoke Pleasant Memories.

Over the whole village that stillness reigns which only a Sunday in summer can produce. It is nearing the noon hour, and there is a glare of sunlight everywhere.

The quiet of the streets seems to be intensified as one approaches the corner where the small stone church stands alone. There is a service going on inside, and the rolling music of the organ faintly wafted from within reaches the deserted streets outside. Rows of houses with closed blinds and unoccupied doorsteps meet the eye on every side, and down a narrow lane near at hand a freshly painted barn gleams hotly in the fierce sunshine. Three or four pigeons have fluttered to the roof and are sunning themselves and softly cooing.

Near the door of the church a horse and buggy stand, and now and again the animal, bothered by flies, stamps and splashes in the shallow puddle under him.

A dog trots lazily up the street and stops on his way to chase and bark at a few belated sparrows. One of the pigeons stalks with dignity across the roof, and another flutters into the air with a whirring sound and disappears.

The sound of the organ has died quite away and only the distant clucking of a disturbed hen breaks the quiet. The sunlight seems to have taken on a darker shade.

A sharp gust of wind sweeps up and down the street and rushes through the foliage of the sleeping trees. The sparrows that occupied the street are not in sight. No living thing is to be seen, and the newly painted barn, that a moment ago looked scorched and blistered, seems to have taken on a cooler tinge. The breeze has died quite away, and there is a moment of supreme stillness.

Then a dull, sudden sound that seems like the roar of a distant train steals upon the air. It comes again, and there is no mistaking it—it is thunder. A hurried run runs across the lane and disappears behind a board just as three large drops mark the dust covered sidewalk. Drops are falling everywhere, and as they increase in number they decrease in size. There is a gentle patter on the sidewalk, on the house tops, through the trees, which becomes more and more hurried until it generates into a steady rush of falling rain. The landscape is almost shut out from sight.

Slowly and by hardly perceptible degrees the steady rush becomes a patter, and the sun, with sudden brilliance, changes each drop to a glistening diamond.

The rain ceases, and the sparkling trees gently shake themselves in the sunlight.

The shower is over.—Walter M. Eginton in New Bohemian.

The Nose.

The nose is intended for breathing, the mouth for speaking and eating. Who has ever seen a horse breathing otherwise than through his nostrils? Minute scientific investigation has revealed the fact that the number of people who breathe through their nostrils are becoming gradually but surely fewer in number. The consequence is that the nostrils decrease in size, while it has been found that the prevailing nose is quite an inferior organ to that of our forefathers.

Doctors at the present time are frequently asked to operate on noses and to enlarge them. Their owners have found that they do not fulfill their functions as well as they used to. It is beginning to be feared by scientific people that if matters grow much worse we shall lose the use of our nasal organs entirely.

It is a well known physiological fact that unused muscles and bones gradually disappear. Fish who live in the dark, for instance, or the mole, who resides underground, become blind. Thus, if we cease to use our noses for breathing, they will cease to exist. They will become superfluous!—Pearson's Weekly.

Subtle Flattery.

A certain rector in a Suffolk village, who was disliked in the parish, had a curate who was very popular, and, on his leaving, was presented with a testimonial. This excited the envy and wrath of the rector, and, meeting with an old lady one day, he said:

"I am surprised, Mrs. Bloom, that you should have subscribed to this testimonial."

"Why, sir," said the old lady, "if you'd bin a-goin, I'd 'ave subscribed double!"—London Tit-Bits.

SWEDISH QUARTETTE.

This Popular Combination Will Be Here Thursday Night.

On Thursday night, Dec. 31, at the new association hall, Fifth street, where the Young Men's Christian Association quarters are now located, this justly celebrated quartette will charm the citizens of East Liverpool. These sweet singers are famous all over the land, and they attract crowded houses wherever they sing. Miss Bertha Webb, violinist, plays superbly, and has won warm praise from thoroughly competent critics. Miss Jennie Shoemaker, dramatic impersonator, is most excellent in her specialties, and is simply splendid in Delsartean work. There is not a weak point in the combination, and residents of this city can be assured of a genuine treat on Thursday night.

Reserved seats for the Remenyi concert can be had only at Reed's drug store.

LIVERPOOL SKATERS

Defeated the Georgetown Players in a Game of Shindy.

A "shindy" contest between a team of Liverpool skaters and an equal number selected from Georgetown and Smith's Ferry was played on the ice on Beaver creek yesterday afternoon. The local contestants walloped their opponents with comparative ease, winning by a score of 6 to 0.

PRETTY PRINTING NEWS REVIEW

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

Celebrated for its great leavening strength and healthfulness. Assured the food against all forms of adulterations common to the cheap brands.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

WELLSVILLE.

A GOOD BUSINESS

Was Done by Mayor Jones Yesterday Afternoon.

Business is unusually brisk at city hall, and the officials are in the best of spirits, and all because eight people had not finished their Christmas festivities at the proper time. The first victim to be called before Mayor Jones was Malon Evans, who answered to the charge of disorderly conduct. He was quickly disposed of, and B. H. Morris took his place in line, and also answered to a disorderly charge. He was fined the same amount as his predecessor, and there appeared on the scene Harry Colwell, John Colwell, Joe Bradley, Frank Smith, William Hood and Tom Brown, who were guilty of drinking too much corn juice. They were assessed the usual fine and permitted to depart, after liquidating the debt.

WEARY WILLIES

Are Now Very Numerous at the Brick Works.

The Vulcan brick works are at present besieged with visitors of all nationalities, who claim to hail from all parts of the country. They are the kind of people known as Weary Willies, and they dine and sleep around the kilns just as though they owned the place. What they eat is begged from the people in the city, but they never fail to return to their accustomed haunts at meal time. They are a great nuisance to the proprietor of the works, and it is probable a wholesale raid will be made soon.

SPILLED THE MILK,

But the Driver Escaped Without Serious Injury.

Yesterday morning as a horse and sleigh, in which were two milk cans, was turning the corner of Commerce and Tenth streets, the horse became frightened and gave a quick jump, throwing the driver and cans out of the sleigh on the ground. The milk was all spilled, but the driver was uninjured beyond a few bruises. The horse ran a short distance before it was captured.

Filled to Dissolve an Injunction Yesterday Afternoon.

Lisbon, Dec. 29.—[Special]—In common pleas court yesterday afternoon the case of B. F. Ambler and others, trustees of the Salem railroad, against J. T. Brookes, was heard on a motion to dissolve the injunction which Judge Smith issued last March, and which restrained the defendant from tearing up a switch belonging to the railroad. This switch was built in '93, and under an agreement made with the Wirsching Church Organ company, who then owned the land. The property has since come into the hands of Brookes, who notified the trustees of the railway company to remove the switch. This they refused to do, and the court enjoined Brookes from proceeding in the matter. Judge Smith will not rule on the motion until the next term of court.

Judge Smith yesterday overruled a motion for a new trial in the case of the Specialty Glass company against F. I. Simmers and Charles E. Macrum.

The October term of court adjourned last evening until Monday, Jan. 18, when the next term will begin.

The following marriage licenses were issued: J. C. Clark and Miss Ida M. Thorne, East Liverpool; Frank Blackburn and Miss Anna B. Clark, Wellsville.

Will Resume Operations In Full In the Near Future.

W. G. Beardmore, who has been visiting friends here, left for Akron last evening. He will remain there for a few days and then return to Tiffin, where he is employed in the sanitary pottery. He says the Tiffin plant, which has been idle for weeks, will start in full in a short time.

Two From Liverpool.

The colony of prisoners at present harbored within the environments of the county jail number 14. Of these, two are from East Liverpool, namely: Wilbur H. A Son.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Will Moon, of Pleasant and May streets, a son.

Brotherhood fair at the rink.

IN getting up a wedding tressou, think how many women are tired out! Dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop girls," milliners—all hard-worked and weary over it; to say nothing of the young lady herself. Sitting or standing all day is the hardest kind of work; it gives you no healthy well-balanced exercise; part of the body is overworked and the rest of it is under-worked. The system grows sluggish; the appetite is poor, the stomach is out of order; the bowels are constipated, you have headaches and dizzy spells. It's impossible for you to take as much out-of-door exercise in the daylight as you need. The best help you can have in the circumstances is a simple laxative medicine like Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They will, as nearly as any medicine can, supply the want of free exercise which is lacking in all in-door work. They cure dyspepsia, biliousness and constipation in a pleasant, gradual, natural way. There is no gripping or weakening effect with the Pleasant Pellets; they act surely but gently; they promote liver action, and give tone and strength to the stomach and intestines to do their own work. When you become regular the "Pellets" can be stopped and you won't have to take them forever. The cure is permanent.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are small sugar-coated granules; agreeable to take. Children like them. If the druggist wants to sell you some of what pays you. You will receive a sample package free if you will send your name and address to the Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, By R. V. Pierce, M. D., Chief Consulting Physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, a book of 600 large pages, over 300 illustrations, some of them in color, bound in strong paper covers will be sent to any one sending 21 cents in one-cent stamps to cover cost of mailing only. Over 60,000 copies of this complete family Doctor Book already sold in cloth binding at regular price of $1.50.

OF LOCAL INTEREST.

Some People We Know, and We Will Profit by Hearing about Them.

This is a purely local event.

It took place in East Liverpool, Not in Buffalo or Boston.

You are asked to investigate it; Asked to believe a citizen's word.

To confirm a citizen's statement. Any article that is endorsed at home That obtains resident advocates, Is more worthy of confidence.

Than a far-off foreign article, Testified to by unknown people.

During the Civil War, Mr. Wm. Anderson, of 305 Lisbon street, enlisted and served three years in the 43d Ohio Infantry.

From the exposure during the war he attributes his late trouble which bothered him more or less ever since, some attacks being much worse than others.

"Severe aching," says he, "and weakness in the joints so bad at times that I could scarcely get around, and muscular rheumatism of recent years, all seemed to have centered in my kidneys.

In the mornings when first getting up I was very dizzy until I had moved around for a time, and my nervous system became affected, causing a fluttering and fullness around the heart. Seeing an advertisement in the review, I got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at the W. & W. Pharmacy, and took them. The first few doses gave me relief. The improvement was gradual, but continuing at the system, I firmly believe Doan's Kidney Pills in every case, as they did in mine, prove the justness of the claims made for them."

Doan's Kidney Pills are for sale by all dealers. Price, 50 cents. Mailed by Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

WELL FILLED PURSE

Presented to Reverend Sloan at North Side Chapel.

The Sunday school held at North Side chapel last evening was a pleasant event. A large number were in attendance. An appropriate program was given. Twenty-two scholars who attended Sunday school regularly from one to six years received books. For meritorious service Secretary Jason Orr was given a handsome Bible. Before the exercises were over Doctor Lee stepped forward and in behalf of the congregation presented Reverend Sloan with a well filled purse and wished him success in his new pastorate. Reverend Sloan was taken by surprise and thanked the donors warmly for their kindness. Reverend Sloan and family left for their new field this morning.

BUSINESS IS GOOD.

Two Cases Disposed of and Two New Ones Entered.

Justice Rose is doing a land office business at present, and the following cases are now booked for trial in his court: James McKinney versus Stephen Hague and Robert F. Stewart, late patentees, for $18.88. The case will be heard Thursday at 8 o'clock. W. H. McClain versus Jane Peck for $21.80. The case will be heard Thursday at 7 a. m. L. S. Wilson was given judgment against Thomas Jackson for $11.70, and Jane Peck obtained judgment against Hood Kinsey for $18.99.

Soliciting Funds.

G. F. Copeland, of Millport, was in the city today soliciting funds for the erection of a soldiers' monument at the Bethesda church, in Franklin township. The gentleman has visited the principal towns of the county, and has thus far met with very favorable success.

Granted a Pension.

Mrs. Nancy J. McIntosh, of Calcutta, was yesterday granted a pension of $8 per month, dating from Nov. 18, 1895. Her husband served during the late war as member of Company F, Seventy-Sixth Ohio Volunteer Infantry.

Crescent quartette tonight at the Rink.

A LONG SEARCH.

Everywhere Kitty had sought the quotation—Browning and Tennyson, Shelley and Long. Shakespeare she handled with great veneration. Shutting, however, the tomes with a bang. Byron she searched, and Swinburne so burning—Gosse, Austin Dobson, Stevenson, Moore. Leaves of each one she was futilely turning. Hopeless her search as ever before.

Then wearied, fearful, she angrily flitted. Out of the library—rushed she distraught. "Let's give it up," then she put out a hand. "For I have forgotten the line that we sought!"

A SHOWER IN THE VILLAGE.

This Word Picture Somehow Awakens Pleasant Memories.

Over the whole village that stillness reigns which only a Sunday in summer can produce. It is nearing the noon hour, and there is a glare of sunlight everywhere.

The quiet of the streets seems to be intensified as one approaches the corner where the small stone church stands alone. There is a service going on inside, and the rolling music of the organ faintly wafted from within reaches the deserted streets outside. Rows of houses with closed blinds and unoccupied doorsteps meet the eye on every side, and down a narrow lane near at hand a freshly painted barn gleams hotly in the fierce sunshine. Three or four pigeons have fluttered to the roof and are sunning themselves and softly cooing.

Near the door of the church a horse and buggy stand, and now and again the animal, bothered by flies, stamps and splashes in the shallow puddle under him.

A dog trots lazily up the street and stops on his way to chase and bark at a few belated sparrows. One of the pigeons stalks with dignity across the roof, and another flutters into the air with a whirling sound and disappears.

The sound of the organ has died quite away and only the distant clucking of a disturbed hen breaks the quiet. The sunlight seems to have taken on a darker shade.

A sharp gust of wind sweeps up and down the street and rushes through the foliage of the sleeping trees. The sparrows that occupied the street are not in sight. No living thing is to be seen, and the newly painted barn, that a moment ago looked scorched and blistered, seems to have taken on a cooler tinge. The breeze has died quite away, and there is a moment of supreme stillness.

Then a dull, sullen sound that seems like the roar of a distant train steals upon the air. It comes again, and there is no mistaking it—it is thunder. A hurried hen runs across the lane and disappears behind a board just as three large drops mark the dust covered sidewalk. Drops are falling everywhere, and as they increase in number they decrease in size. There is a gentle patter on the sidewalk, on the house tops, through the trees, which becomes more and more hurried until it generates into a steady rush of falling rain. The landscape is almost shut out from sight.

Slowly and by hardly perceptible degrees the steady rush becomes a patter, and the sun, with sudden brilliance, changes each drop to a glistening diamond.

The rain ceases, and the sparkling trees gently shake themselves in the sunlight.

The shower is over.—Walter M. Eginton in New Bohemian.

The Nose.

The nose is intended for breathing, the mouth for speaking and eating. Who has ever seen a horse breathing other than through his nostrils? Minute scientific investigation has revealed the fact that the number of people who breathe through their nostrils are becoming gradually but surely fewer in number. The consequence is that the nostrils decrease in size, while it has been found that the prevailing nose is quite an inferior organ to that of our forefathers.

Doctors at the present time are frequently asked to operate on noses and to enlarge them. Their owners have found that they do not fulfill their functions as well as they used to. It is beginning to be feared by scientific people that if matters grow much worse we shall lose the use of our nasal organs entirely.

It is a well known physiological fact that unused muscles and bones gradually disappear. Fish who live in the dark, for instance, or the mole, who resides underground, become blind. Thus, if we cease to use our noses for breathing, they will cease to exist. They will become superfluous.—Pearson's Weekly.

Subtle Flattery.

A certain rector in a Suffolk village, who was disliked in the parish, had a curate who was very popular, and, on his leaving, was presented with a testimonial. This excited the envy and wrath of the rector, and, meeting with an old lady one day, he said:
